

Why do some permit numbers begin with letters and others with numbers?

Permit numbers beginning with two digits represent permits that were obtained prior to the implementation of EnerGov (our current software). The two-digit number at the beginning of the permit indicates the year the permit was pulled. So, permit number 16-00002465 CAEL is for a Commercial Alteration Electrical (CAEL) permit pulled in 2016. Permit numbers beginning with letters represent permits that have been obtained since the implementation of EnerGov. The first four letters indicate the type of permit and the last four numbers indicate the permit year. Permit PLMB-000489-2018 indicates a Plumbing permit pulled in 2018. (Plumbing permit number 489 pulled in 2018. A permit with no year in the permit number indicates a rental permit. For example, 000000752 SF is a Single-Family rental property.
